

Santa Ana at Alajero, La Gomera is a unique and exclusive residential village characterized by organic farming, energy efficiency and sustainable living. Keeping with the agricultural traditions of the island, Parque Mirador is landscaped to reflect the variety of the island's natural flora and includes a fruit farm with trails through the orchards, and benches on which to enjoy the serenity and the perfumed air. Along the headland, a leisurely path follows the line of the cliffs with Mount Teide, Spain's highest mountain located on the neighboring island of Tenerife, on the horizon.
